

No Pay To Rails For Labor Inefficiency

Commerce Commission Denies Claim for Extra Compensation From U. S.

MAY INVOLVE $400,000,000

Commission Also Decides Against Claim for Materials Depreciation.

Washington, D. C.—The interstate commerce commission Saturday denied the railroad claims that the government should compensate them for the loss of efficiency of railroad labor which they alleged resulted from government control.

The railroads claimed that the government in making settlement with it should allow for the claims that labor had become inefficient under federal control, that wages were higher, that property bought for the roads by the government had depreciated in value and that materials used in maintenance cost more.

The commission rejected the depreciation claim both as to labor and materials.

The commission allowed for differences in wages and the cost of material.

Just how much is involved in the decision is uncertain.

May Involve $400,000,000

Director General Davis has estimated that the under-maintenance claims of the roads amount to about $750,000,000. It was roughly estimated today that the claim for "inefficiency of labor and depreciation of materials" might total half of this or even more.

Commissioner Hall was the only one of the eleven commissioners who did not participate in the disposition of the case. Commissioners Daniels, Potter and Campbell filed dissenting opinions. Commissioners Meyer and Lewis concurred only in part of the majority report.

Commissioner Daniels, dissenting, said the decision allowing only for differences in cost of labor and material was erroneous.

Commissioner Potter agreed with Daniels. Commissioner Campbell also took the position that more than wages was included in the words "the differences in the cost of labor."

PAVE WAY FOR CRAIG TO MEET DE VALERA

By United Press Leased Wire
London.—Lieutenants of Eamon de Valera and Sir James Craig were reported in conference Saturday evening on the trail for the direction negotiations between the Sinn Fein and Ulster leaders.

These intermediaries were supposed to be working to bring about the long postponed meeting between De Valera and Sir James.

Outlining the present status of peace negotiations, the Daily News Saturday stated De Valera now was confronted with the problem of obtaining an arrangement with Ulster for peace.

Serious developments were feared for Monday when the government control over Irish railways ends. The railway workers are faced with wage reductions, although they demand continuance of the present scale. De Valera has appealed to labor throughout the island, but it is said he is strongly opposed to a continuation of the present arrangement. This, it was feared, might provoke a break between De Valera and the wage workers.

PROMINENT MILWAUKEE JUDGE DIES AT 87 YEARS

By United Press Leased Wire
Milwaukee, Wis.—Judge James Graham Jenkins, eminent jurist and retired from the United States circuit court, died here Saturday at the age of 87 years.

He once declined the appointment proffered by President Grover Cleveland, to the supreme court of the District of Columbia.

Judge Jenkins won national fame by his decision in the case of the Farmers Loan and Trust company against the Northern Pacific railroad company. The decision aroused much adverse criticism but was substantially upheld by the higher courts.

He is survived by his widow.

"OPEN DOOR" IN FAR EAST IS U. S. CARDINAL POLICY

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington.—The United States government Saturday apparently was basing its program for the Pacific discussions in the coming Washington disarmament conference on three cardinal principles.

These are:

1.—The recognition and firm establishment of the "open door" in the Pacific and the Far East.

2.—The protection and maintenance of the integrity, political and territorial, of China.

3.—The safeguarding of the integrity of Russia, which principally involves Siberia.

The date for the opening of the conference, November 11, has been practically agreed upon.

FATHER, BURGLAR, WOUNDED BY SON

Chicago, Ill.—Robert Schon White guarding his garage against burglars, shot and critically wounded his father early Saturday. The father was carrying away several auto cushions when he fired, the son declared.

Recently Robert missed many articles from his garage, auto tires and other accessories were missing.

Last night he lay in wait for the burglar. Shortly before dawn a window crashed in and a dark form stealthily moved into the garage. After picking up the cushions, the robber started out the window. Robert fired four times and then rushed forward, grappling with the burglar. As he turned the man around, a ray of light from the street showed up the man's face and Robert saw for the first time he had wounded his father.

The elder Schon was booked on a charge of burglary with his son listed as the complainant.

Farrar's Home Broken Up By Her Wild Temperament

Lou Tellegen Sues Star for Divorce Because She Locked Him Out of House.

By United Press Leased Wire
New York.—Lou Tellegen's formal action for separation from Geraldine Farrar, famous opera singer, will be filed in Westchester county next week. Harry M. Steinfield, Tellegen's attorney announced today.

"The summons and appearance, charging desertion, already have been filed," he said. "Additional grounds will be cited when the formal action is instituted."

Miss Farrar could not be located today. Her home on 74th street had a deserted appearance. There was mail for Tellegen in the box. The curtains were drawn.

According to Steinfield, Miss Farrar refused to accept service in the test case Thursday night. Four process servers were waiting in front of her house when she drove up with her mother in an auto.

Many of the details of the crash of the Farrar-Tellegen romance were still enveloped in mystery today. It appeared, however, that both parties were contemplating separation action. Tellegen's complaint is said to be that his wife, in the capricious manner of a Carmén—which part she has sung so often on the metropolitan stage—locked the doors against him and notified him through her lawyers to tell her where she could ship his clothes.

The ultimatum about his wardrobe reached Tellegen, it was reported, while he was on a fishing trip at Long Beach, N. Y. He hurried back to town, but the blinds of the Seventy-fourth street house were drawn, the door was bolted and barred, and there was no response to his ringings and poundings.

NEWBERRY'S SEAT STILL IN DANGER

Republicans Joining Democrats Who Are Fighting Michigan Senator.

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington, D. C.—Strict party lines may break in the approaching battle over the right of Senator Truman H. Newberry of Michigan to his seat in the senate.

Several progressive Republican senators are ready to join the Democrats in their efforts to oust the Michigan senator, it was learned Saturday.

The progressives will be led by Senators Borah of Idaho and Kenyon of Iowa, and before the fight has gone far on the floor of the senate, they hope to enlist the entire progressive strength.

"Political morality," is the base of progressive opposition. Their attack will be centered upon the expenditure of $196,000 for Newberry in his 1918 primary election. The report of the majority members of the elections subcommittee which investigated the contest, declares that Senator Newberry is entitled to his seat. This report has been submitted confidentially to the full committee, and is to be voted on next Tuesday. The full committee is expected to approve the report of the majority members, and order it submitted to the senate, when the fight on the floor will begin.

WEALTHY MAN SLAIN WITH SHOTGUN NEAR HIS HOME

Los Angeles, Calif.—John D. Kennedy, wealthy Los Angeles insurance man, was mysteriously assassinated at midnight Friday night near his summer cottage at Beverly Glen.

Kennedy, in company with Mrs. Madeline Obenchain of Evanston, Ill., was mounting a stairway leading up the hillside to his cottage, according to the police accounts.

A dark figure ran silently from a border of brush at the side of the stairway and shot Kennedy dead, Mrs. Obenchain said.

Kennedy was murdered with a shot gun. The back of his skull was blown off.

Mrs. Obenchain, apparently a wealthy woman and a guest at the Alexandria hotel said she was engaged to Kennedy. She said she was divorced from S. R. Obenchain, a prominent Chicago attorney, about a year ago. She was hysterical today.

HUNDREDS SEEKING ABDUCTED PRIEST

By United Press Leased Wire
San Francisco, Calif.—Heavily armed posses Saturday swept through the Big Basin district, in a lonely forest of giant redwoods, hunting Father Patrick Healin, who is held by kidnapers.

Guards along one of the roads leading out of San Francisco reported during the night that an automobile driven at terrific speed, had flashed through Los Gatos—sixty miles away—headed for the Big Basin. In it crouched four men and the guard said the glimpse he got of them convinced him one was the missing priest.

Police Chief O'Brien believed today that if the kidnapers and their victims were in Big Basin, escape for them would be impossible. Other posses, however, were raiding snags in the mountains, and in the wild seacoast district of San Mateo county, running down every cleft.

The highway department announced that because of the failure of the legislature to provide adequate funds for the department, work of building roads would be curtailed after July 1922. This will mean, the statement said, that many road experts would be dropped from the payroll of the department.

LITTLE CHANCE TO DODGE HIGH TAXES ON 1921 INCOMES

Secretary Mellon Declares Country Cannot Afford to Cut Taxes Now.

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington, D. C.—No taxes can be repealed before January 1, 1922. Republican members of the house ways and means committee tentatively decided Saturday.

If this plan is finally enacted, it would mean that business and wealthy individuals during the calendar year of 1922 would have to pay the excess profits and high surtaxes on the profits of 1921. Previously it was planned to repeal the excess profits and reduce the surtaxes as of January 1, 1921, thus lifting these levies after corporations and individuals had made provision to meet them.

The main reason for the change is the great need for revenue as shown by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon's outline of the government fiscal situation. If the taxes are not repealed by January 1, 1922, more than $500,000,000 can be obtained from these levies. The previous plan was to make the 5 per cent increase in the flat corporation income tax also retroactive to January 1 of this year, but under the new program this tax may never be enacted.

Republican Leader Mondell believes if no taxes are repealed until January 1 next the government fiscal situation will have improved so that no new taxes will be necessary to make up the loss through the repeal of the excess profits and soda water taxes, the reduction of the surtax rates and the halving of transportation tax.

ALLEGED POISONER IS FREED ON COURT WRIT

By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago, Ill.—Investigation into the arsenic murder mystery involving three mysterious deaths, was halted Saturday, pending report of a coroner's jury.

Mrs. Mary Demmer, who was held for questioning in connection with the deaths of her husband, and of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kolze, was released on a writ of habeas corpus.

Before Mrs. Demmer was allowed her freedom, she said she saw Kolze give some powders to his wife.

She also stated that Kolze had often told her not to worry about her husband's death as he probably had committed suicide.

Following the death of Demmer and Mrs. Kolze, Mrs. Demmer fell in love with Kolze and kept house for him. She said she saw Kolze concealing something under the bed a few days before he died, intimating he also may have committed suicide.

This statement was issued in response to an inquiry from the United Press on a statement reported to have been issued by the Japanese embassy in London, stating that there is a feeling in Japan that the practical result of the Washington conference cannot be reckoned with any "degree of confidence."

FITS SLAYER'S DESCRIPTION

Man Is Arrested Following Burglary of Pool Hall in Twin Cities.

By United Press Leased Wire
Eau Claire, Wis.—Jack Ryan, 24, whose home is said to be at Waukegan, Wis., was arraigned here Saturday before Judge Henry McBain in municipal court, charged with the murder of Chief of Police Elmer Sandby who was fatally shot by an unknown bandit here on Monday July 26, shortly after the latter had held up and robbed a Wisconsin-Minnesota Light and Power company messenger of $1,035 at the company's car barns.

Ryan pleaded not guilty and the hearing was set for August 15. He was not represented by an attorney.

Ryan was brought here during the night from Oshkosh by Sheriff George Garman and a Burns detective, who has been here working on the case for some time. Ryan was arrested at Menasha some days ago charged with the burglary of a pool hall and certain circumstances aroused suspicion of the authorities there that he was in some way connected with the Eau Claire hold up and murder, especially when he is said to have admitted he was at Chippewa Falls the night of the shooting here and had there thrown away a pair of khaki trousers, such as the bandit here is described as having worn. The Oshkosh authorities at once got into touch with Sheriff Garman here and he accompanied by the Burns detective who has been working on the case, went after the suspect.

Ryan is said to answer the general description of the man who shot Chief Sandby.

FUGITIVE SUICIDES TO ESCAPE ARREST

By United Press Leased Wire
Aurora, Ill.—James Witt, hunted for the last three months for the murder of Police Chief George Reum, West Chicago, shot and killed himself near Yorkville, Ill., Saturday after being wounded and near capture by sheriff Martin Hextell.

Sheriff Hextell received information last night that Witt was camping and working near Yorkville. He set out in an auto to arrest the fugitive. While enroute to the place, two autos, running without lights, shot past the sheriff's car.

Believing Witt might be in one of the machines, the sheriff turned and followed the cars. One was driven by Witt. In the other machine were Witt's wife and baby, with Mrs. Witt at the wheel.

Driving at a tremendous speed, Mrs. Witt soon outdistanced the sheriff's car. Following the other machine, the officer commanded Witt to a blind road. He commanded the fugitive to surrender. When there was no answer, he fired, wounding Witt in the back. Witt then placed a revolver at his temple, firing. He died instantly.

Mrs. Witt was still at large today. A reward of $1,500 had been offered for the apprehension of Witt.

FIND MOTORCYCLE ON ROAD; CHARGED WITH STEALING IT

Charged with stealing a motorcycle near Black Creek, Gordon Harris and James Graham of Racine, were taken before Judge A. M. Spencer in municipal court but were dismissed because of insufficient grounds for action. The 17-year-old youths were arrested by John Deery, village marshal of Black Creek.

The boys testified in court that they had gone to Black Creek with the intention of finding work in the sugar-beet fields. Work was not available so they were forced to return home. While walking along the road they found an abandoned motorcycle which they attempted to put in working order. They pushed it some distance along the road and finally left it by the roadside.

The father of one of the boys came to Appleton and the pair returned to Racine with him.

OFFICER SHOT HIMSELF; BOARD CAN'T FIND REASON

By United Press Leased Wire
Rockford, Ill.—Captain Robert Ferris, in charge of the prison at Camp Grant, shot himself, according to a finding of the military inquiry board made Saturday.

The army officer was shot from ambush, he claimed, while riding in an auto.

The report of the inquiry set forth no reason why Ferris should shoot himself, but declared it was the belief of the board that he had no intention of committing suicide.

A grand jury investigation into the entire affair was considered by county authorities unless satisfactory explanation was made of the shooting.

Grandmother Dies Trying To Save Child From Mother

By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago, Ill.—Spanking of a child led to the death of one woman and the serious injury of another, according to police Saturday.

Mrs. Anna Taugner, 52, was found dead in bed. Her body was badly beaten. Her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Margaret Taugner was in the hospital from wounds.

Police say a fight started between the two women when Mrs. Margaret Taugner beat her two-year-old child, Plutarch, or picking flowers in a neighbor's garden.

The elder Mrs. Taugner took the child and refused to return it to the mother, authorities say, and this resulted in a barehanded fight to the finish.

The younger Mrs. Taugner is being guarded by authorities at the hospital.

City's Firefighters All Gathered In One Station To Give Better Service

Centralization of the fire department under the tryout plan until Jan. 1 as authorized by the common council Wednesday has been put into effect by Chief George P. McGillan. Engine house No. 2, State-st., is closed up and the motor hose wagon established at No. 1 station, Oneida st., together with its crew.

Five fire fighting machines now are located under one roof from where any point in the city may be reached in three to five minutes. No. 3 company, fourth ward, was moved to central station sometime ago and the move for complete centralization followed.

Greater efficiency will result from this arrangement, Chief McGillan believes. Quicker services will be given the business and manufacturing sections and a larger number of men rushed to a fire than before. No less than seven men will respond to every alarm, the average will be ten and at least two and more often three will left left at the station to answer a second call.

Concentration of apparatus will change the distributing plan completely, under which companies have responded only to certain calls. This feature has not been worked out by Chief McGillan, but changes will be made to render faster and better service, especially where serious fires might be available.

Centralization advocated as a preliminary to the double-platoon system required by state law had uncertain features which led the council to give it a trial while the organization changes are being worked out and the new budget prepared to take care of employment of nine additional men. Should tests up to Jan. 1 prove this arrangement unsafe or impractical, outlying stations again will be established.

The increase in students which the new ruling will make will be handled at the vocational school without any additional teaching force, with the probable exception of one or two part-time teachers.

The board voted to have W. S. Ford, director of the vocational school, attend the annual convention of directors to be held this month at Menominee, Mich., if he wishes to do so.

Boys and girls who reached the age of 17 this year need not attend school but next fall students will be required to attend until they are 18. Students will also attend school until the end of the term hereafter instead of dropping out when they become of age.

The Appleton Vocational school board voted to comply with the new state law requiring all children working under permit and under 16 years of age to attend school half time, at a meeting Friday afternoon in vocational school.

A blank look on City Treasurer Fred Bachman's face was the only reply, and office assistants exchanged puzzled looks. "Didn't you just now turn in the burglar alarm?" queried Officer Schmitzer. A staunch denial was immediately reiterated all around. Then suspicion was turned to the one visitor in the office who insisted he didn't even know where the push buttons were. Finally it came out that Mr. Bachman had unconsciously set off the foot alarm while reading a letter at his desk.

"13" UNLUCKY FOR DRIVERS OF AUTOS

July Was Busy Month, With Half of Arrests for Automobile Speeding.

Thirteen was an unlucky number for automobile drivers for July inasmuch as that number of men was haled into court for exceeding the speed limit, according to the monthly report of George T. Prim, chief of police. There were 29 arrests all told.

This was one of the busiest months in the history of the department because of the Outagamie county bank robbery and the entanglement of the Appleton case with the Wabeno robbery. The Black Maria, besides its mile-a-minute trip to the bank, answered 144 calls and traveled 1,427 miles, the largest recorded in some time for one month. This included many rural trips following up bandit clues. The ambulance was out six times, covering 29.7 miles.

Only three drunks found their way into the clutches of the authorities during the hot weather. Three of the men arrested were fugitives from justice and were turned over to other authorities. The offenses were:

Exceeding speed limit	13
Drunkness	3
Nonsupport	1
Running auto without license	1
Wife abandonment	1
Vagrancy	2
Statutory charges	2
Robbery	1
Assault	1
Gambling	2

WILD ANIMAL ACTS FEATURE OF CIRCUS

The biggest trained animal show that ever toured America will be exhibited here soon, when the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey Combined Circus will present the scores of educated jungle beasts purchased by their representatives in Europe last winter.

The presentation includes a combination of the three largest animal shows that have until now traveled only on the continent. The outfit and the more than thirty men who have trained and cared for the dumb actors, are carried intact. Sixteen of a total of more than 100 railroad cars are required to carry this particular aggregation. It is not shown as a separate attraction, but is made a part of the gigantic program in the circus main tent.

Three out of the sixteen main tent displays will be given over to these newly imported thespians when the circus exhibits here Wednesday, Aug. 17. These displays include two kinds of animals—those performed in steel arenas and those exhibited from the rings, stages and hippodrome track. Four arenas of steel are set up at every performance and at such vantage points as to insure a complete view of their contents from all parts of the tent. In these arenas the most marvellously trained wild animals ever subjugated. All are in charge of the European trainers who taught them the many wonderful tricks which they do.

ATTENDS MEETING OF U. S. RETAILERS

Hugh G. Corbett Finds Pageant of Progress Worth While Seeing.

Hugh G. Corbett, managing secretary of the chamber of commerce, has returned from Chicago, where he attended the Pageant of Progress and the National Congress of Retail Merchants for three days. Both had splendid exhibits, he said, and Appleton people would find it worth while to attend.

Mr. Corbett spoke briefly in the millinery conference of the merchant gathering, which he happened to attend. His suggestion to arrange a cost system in the millinery business was taken up by the leaders of this craft and a committee appointed to present a plan at next year's meeting. Different conferences were held each day, one on business building, one on millinery, on advertising, retail clothing and electrical dealing.

Two of the speakers at the advertising gathering, W. Frank McClure and Homer J. Buckley, both of Chicago, promised to come to Appleton this fall to speak. Both are leaders in the publicity business and are said to be excellent orators.

NEENAH-OSHKOSH ROAD TO BE OPENED SUNDAY

Autoists who have Oshkosh or points south as their destination for weekend trips will welcome announcement that the Oshkosh end of Neenah-Oshkosh-rd. is to be opened to traffic Sunday. This gives a continuous concrete stretch of more than eight miles from Gillingham corner south.

Pouring of concrete has begun on the 3-mile unpaved stretch at the Neenah end and this probably will be ready within 30 days.

The best route to Oshkosh now is directly west out of Neenah on Wisconsin-ave., past the cemetery to the left and continuing west until the schoolhouse is reached. The autoist then turns south and will strike the concrete after going a short distance.

CHINAMAN, FORMERLY OF OSHKOSH, KILLED BY CAR

By United Press Leased Wire
St. Paul, Minn.—Moy Hee, one of the wealthiest Chinamen in the country who died as a result of being struck by an automobile, will be buried in his family cemetery Sun Ning, South China. Funeral services will be held here at the First Baptist church.

Moy Hee settled in Oshkosh, Wis., when he came to this country in 1886. Fourteen years later he came to St. Paul. His brother, Charles Toy, a wealthy Milwaukee merchant, is here to take charge of Moy Hee's interests.

BUS SERVICE BETTER THAN STREET RAILWAY

By United Press Leased Wire
Des Moines, Iowa.—John Budd, commissioner of public safety, Friday announced he would back the plan to give busses the sole franchise of Des Moines streets.

This action was taken to mean that motor transportation instead of street cars had been successful here.

There was no confusion on the second street carless day. Everyone got to work on time.

Busses supplanted street cars Thursday after the street car company had gone bankrupt.

PLAYGROUND WORK WAS SUCCESSFUL

The summer playground work for the grade school children of the city which has been under the supervision of the recreation department of Appleton Woman's club, will close August 15 with the last playground period for the children of the Fourth district school. The pupils of the Fifth ward school, for the last time Wednesday and those of the Columbus school, for the last time August 12.

The work which is being completed for this season as an experiment by the department, is considered to have been very successful considering the help which was available, the equipment at hand, and the amount of time which could be spent in the work.

Leaders hope that if the Woman's Club continues the playground work next year it will be under the direct supervision of a physical director of the club with a director for each playground or play center. In this way more time could be given to the work and there could be a greater variety of play and physical training.

JOB BETTER THAN CALLED FOR; ORDERS EXTRA PAY

By United Press Leased Wire
Minneapolis, Minn.—The Omaha Constructional Steel and Bridge company did a better job on a power dam at Rochester, Minn., than their contract called for, so Judge Wilbur F. Booth today awarded them $51,006 above the contract price.

He complimented attorneys for both sides on the way they handled the case, an unusual court procedure. The Omaha company built the dam on the Zumbro river at Rochester during 1917-1919. The contract price of $260,000 was paid by the city of Rochester. Company engineers testified that they were compelled to put in a lot of extra work on the structure that the contract did not cover to make a good job of it. They asked additional compensation of $187,000 and finally sued for the amount.

Judge Booth awarded judgment for $51,006 and said he thought that would cover the work.

Miss Marie Finger left Saturday for Waukesha, where she will visit friends for several days. She also expects to visit in Milwaukee and a week later will attend the state Evangelical Sunday school and Young People's Alliance conventions.

Washington, D. C.—The senate Friday was preparing to tighten the laws against beer.

"Drys" were quietly moving toward the vote that is to prohibit doctors prescribing beer.

Wets had a number of expedients in mind to stave off as long as possible their eventual defeat. The first was a motion to send the bill back to the judiciary committee.

THE HOME VERSUS JAZZ
It is said of Lincoln that his great reverence for the institution of the American home gave him a keen perception of the fundamental functions of government. In the home he saw the model unit of government "of the people by the people and for the people" in behalf of which he was such an ardent advocate. He knew that patriotism and law and order in the nation depended upon loyalty and discipline and harmony in the homes of the people. Such was his heritage of wealth from the lowly Nancy Hanks that gave him birth.
It is a pity that the real pleasures of the good old-fashioned American homes are being usurped by the fleeting mirage of excitement in the modern day method of living, for just as sure as the home loses its attraction to the individual the nation loses its impetus of progress and prosperity. Indifference in the home is reflected in indifference at the ballot box, indifference to government of city, state and nation. The citizen who has a healthy respect and interest in his home is not one who is easily persuaded to give up his right of suffrage at the polls. Surely much of this indifference to the real and long remembered pleasures of the home is due to ignorance rather than design. It cannot be that we would knowingly prefer the baubles and bubbles of artificial excitement to the genuine and surpassing pleasures of the home. Is the home nothing more than a place to eat and sleep?
What countless pleasures of inspirational and long-lingering happiness many, too many, are missing by thus relegating the home to the category of the lodging house. Are we to suppose that any normal boy would prefer the environment of the corner pool room to the thousand and one delights in a Tom Sawyer or Huckleberry Finn if someone cared to show him the difference. Are we to think that any healthy girl would prefer the insidious influence of jazz and joy ride to the carefree abandon of an evening in her own home with games of pleasure and a few friends tried and true?
We cannot expect a school teacher to ingraft into the character of a boy or girl the confidence and poise and judgment that result from the right environment in the home. No amount of education can ever do that. The home either supplies it—or it doesn't. No one will ever know until the boy and girl have grown up to manhood and have to face the battle of life. A good home is the security of man's happiness and the natural birthright of every child that is born into the world. It is the one inspiring influence which shapes the destinies of our lives for good or evil, for success or failure. A man's home lives with him; it is a very part of him. Are we making the home a fit place to shape the destinies of our loved ones and ourselves? Are the jazz band and dreamy dance substitute for the hearth where good cheer and real happiness abound? Are they making solid character? We all know they are not.

RELIEF FOR DISABLED SOLDIERS
Congress has finally done its duty by the sick and disabled ex-service men. It has passed the Sweet bill which creates new machinery, coordinates the old and appropriates the money necessary for the functioning of the various measures of relief. It is estimated that it will cost close to half a billion dollars a year to carry out the provisions of this measure. This is a large sum of money—about half the total cost of running the government before the war.
It would seem to be sufficient to do everything that can be done to meet the people's obligation to their disabled veterans. But whether it is or not is going to depend entirely upon how honestly and intelligently the money is spent.
The responsibility for caring for our disabled soldiers now passes from congress to the executive branch of the administration.

If the sick, partially disabled and totally disabled veterans do not now get what is coming to them, we shall know exactly where to fix the responsibility.
The Sweet bill has the approval of the American Legion and its enactment into law is due in large measure to the pressure of the Legion, backed by a virtually unanimous public sentiment. From now on the Legion can indulge in no more useful activity than to cooperate with the government in the administration of this great trust.
The cost of administration must be held to the minimum, to the end that the largest possible proportion of the total expenditure be conserved for direct use of the beneficiaries. "A dollar's worth of relief for every dollar spent," should be the Legion's as well as the government's watchword. And the public can be depended upon to back up the Legion to the limit, in whatever action is necessary to translate its watchword into reality.

CONCENTRATION OF WEALTH
"The rich two per cent of the people own sixty per cent of the wealth of the United States; the 'middle class' thirty-three per cent of the people own thirty-five per cent of the wealth, and the poor sixty-five per cent of the people own five per cent of the wealth." Mr. Henry H. Klein, first deputy commissioner of accounts of the city of New York, makes the foregoing statement in his book, "Dynastic America." He shows that 143 families have concentrated wealth to the amount of approximately $46,000,000. Alluding to the income tax returns of 1917, he says that there were four incomes in excess of $5,000,000 each, eight in excess of $4,000,000 each, six in excess of $3,000,000 each, 26 in excess of $2,000,000, 35 in excess of $1,500,000 each, 150 in excess of $1,000,000 each and 315 in excess of $500,000 each.
Mr. Klein's statistics illustrate, under modern conditions and under the representative system of government, several great problems which have been under discussion for centuries. These problems, as yet unsolved, are under more intense consideration at the present time than ever before. They relate to inequalities of fortune, the accumulation of wealth, the multiplication and concentration of wealth, and the control of various monopolies. Most great fortunes are founded on monopoly of utilities or facilities by the control of inventions or privileges, or the enhanced value of property. As capital multiplies itself in the form of interest or dividends, it has a tendency to increase rapidly and to concentrate.
One fact which is seldom, if ever, brought out in connection with the inequalities of wealth is that there was more poverty in previous eras than there is today, and there are more small fortunes and more small fortunes in the making now than formerly. This idea is portrayed by Mr. Klein's assertion that the middle class owns thirty-five per cent of the nation's wealth. America would not, under any circumstances, even consider the socialist theory of common ownership of property, nor would it, under any circumstances, seriously consider the curtailment of individual enterprise or opportunity, or the enrichment of the government by a nationalization of wealth, as a scheme which is akin to socialism. Among suggestions for reform are limitation of wealth, regulation of natural resources so as to effect a wider distribution of wealth, regulation or curtailment of various forms of monopoly, and restriction of interest or dividend rates so as to overcome the function of capital to multiply itself.
These problems are complex because they involve moral, social, political and economic principles. The prime difficulty is to avoid socialism or nationalization and to safeguard and extend individualism to the public welfare.

PETER AND PAUL WERE IN ROME.
According to the evidence and discoveries of two famous archaeologists of Rome, Professors Grossi Condi and Orzio Marzetti, there no longer remains any doubt that the Apostles Peter and Paul both went to Rome and suffered martyrdom there.
That doubt has been raised several times in controversies between various schools of archaeologists. "The Apostles Peter and Paul," professor Marzetti said, "did go to Rome. I have found traces of the burial in catacombs hewn out of the rock on the Appian Way, behind the ancient church of St. Sebastian."
"There are graves in this underground burying place, which of course prove nothing. But there are also writings on the wall, and these writings all invoke the aid of Peter and Paul, described as lying there."

MUZZLED.
Speaking of garters, have you heard of the Harvard students who spied a pair with silver clasps in a Harvard Square shop window, and, thinking to raise a smile, at least, from the charmer at the counter, asked the price of a dog-collar, pointing at the same time to the silver-clasped garter? She turned, and coolly separated them for puppies, said "We do not separate them for puppies, sir,"—Boston Herald.

(ANHEDONIA SERIES—11)
Take a Bracer Every Hour.
Splanchnic anhedonia, which, as every schoolboy now knows, is the incapacity to enjoy life associated with sagging abdominal organs, is pretty generally induced or at least favored by a stumpy posture. If you will stop and look about and visualize your cheerful, happy, good-natured acquaintances, you will find that they are all fairly well set up, they carry themselves well, they have a good posture. On the other hand, recall the stumpy, slouchy, weak, ungainly posture of your sad, gloomy, melancholic or unhappy friends. Is good posture an expression, merely, of vigor, health and cheerful mindedness, or is health of body and mind a state more or less dependent on good posture? Of course the answer to this question is a matter of opinion. In my opinion good posture is rather the determinant of the physical and mental health that assures happiness. I am no believer in that popular injunction "smile and be happy." To my mind you have got to be happy in order to register a real smile. And happiness is health.
In recommending half a dozen or more somersaults on the floor, or on a mattress or mat or pillows, each night and morning, as a prophylactic against stagnation of the splanchnic pool and the long train of evils suffered therefrom, I have specified the importance of coming up smiling. Some correspondents of twenty, forty or sixty have written me painful letters asking how in somewhere a person can come up smiling if he is so dizzy and sick he can't get outa bed for a week after the first attempt at somersaults. You see—that is what false dignity and neglect of physical education will do to you.
Bearing in mind then, children, what I told you the other day about the three-inch lift one can give a sagging stomach or other organ by merely contracting the abdominal muscles and lifting up the chest, and remembering also the pumping effect on the splanchnic pool produced by vigorous contraction of the abdominal muscles (such as occurs in a hearty laugh), it should not be difficult for us to comprehend the good health value of the habit of taking an hourly bracer, a little something to drive away the willies, a sort of an organized stretch, if you know what I mean.
Although it is best, if possible, to stand up for this hourly bracer, a fairly good bracer may be taken sitting or even lying down. Study your automatic actions or those of your friends, while naturally laughing and while unconsciously stretching, and strive to imitate those muscular actions in your hourly bracer. Bad business, very bad, to wait for the end of the seventh inning to take a bracer. Most everybody needs one at least every inning. Study your own muscle sensations while you assume a perfectly erect posture standing vigorously at attention, and strive to put all those muscles into action for a moment—no time at all—every hour. Every time the clock strikes take your bracer—drawing the chest well up, chin well in, crown as high as you can reach, toes a little in, shoulders down and back, thumbs out, palms forward, knees stiff, and most particularly of all efface that "stomach."
QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.
Wait a Little Longer.
For two or three years I have been thinking of trying the Karell system for reducing. But just now I am nursing a baby. Please tell me whether it would be safe for me to use it now. (Mrs. D. M.)
Answer—Your own physician should decide every question concerning your diet. I cannot assure any reader that the Karell regimen would be safe for her to use while nursing. If you waited two years, you would wait a little longer, and take up the Karell regimen after you have weaned the baby?
Fishskin.
My elbows and arms are scaly, dry and dirty looking no matter how much I wash them. It is worse in cold weather, bad enough in summer. Please suggest something I can use for this. (O. A. M.)
Answer—Salicylic acid ..... 30 grains
Powdered benzoin ..... 20 grains
Absolute alcohol ..... 15 drops
Oil of eucalyptus ..... 4 ounces
This is to be digested three hours over a water-bath, then filtered. A few drops may be applied to the roughened skin once or twice daily.

TAKE HIGH OFFICE MARCH 4.
President Washington was inaugurated for his second term, beginning March 4, 1793, and all the other presidents, except four, who were inaugurated March 4. The usual inauguration parade took place the four exceptions were Presidents Monroe, second term, 1821; Taylor, 1849; Hayes, 1877; and President Wilson's second term, 1917. President Hayes took the oath March 3, 1877, and was formally inaugurated on the following Monday. President Wilson took the oath for his second term on Sunday, March 4. The usual inauguration parade took place the next day.
The question as to whether, in the event of March 4 falling on Sunday at the beginning of a term, there being an interregnum of one full day in the office, was first brought by John Quincy Adams when he was secretary of state. He applied for a dictum of the Supreme court to guide the manner of inaugurating President Monroe for his second term. The opinion of Chief Justice Marshall does not prohibit the president from taking the oath and entering his duties immediately after midnight of March 3, even if March 4 falls on Sunday.

Uncle Sam's Trading
By Frederic J. Haskin
Washington, D. C.—One of the big steps in the movement for governmental economy was taken when the executive order was issued recently shutting down on sales of surplus supplies by all government departments and putting the disposition and exchange of these supplies under the direction of General Dawes, now Chief of the Bureau of the Budget.
This step put a stop to an old system through which the government has lost money for many decades, the amounts running tremendously high since the expansion of the government machine made necessary during the World War.
It is impossible to get together all of the figures to show how great the loss has been to the government, and therefore to the American people, because each government department has handled its own sales in getting rid of property acquired during the war and at other times for which it now has no use.
Officials who studied the old system before the new one was put in to supplant it say that no one man or group of men is to blame for the old wastes. It was simply the fault of the system, they insist.
Transfers of property from one department to another were not unheard of during the days of the old system, but usually it was accompanied by haggling and difficulties which would make it appear that two departments of the government, instead of being important cogs in the same tremendous machine, were rival and competing private organizations.
Very many times, when one department was selling or auctioning supplies in open market at low prices, and another department had need of just those supplies, the selling department would refuse to make the buying department as good a price as it gave private purchasers. The department seeking the goods would point out that private individuals and firms were allowed to have the supplies at a low figure. The selling department would counter by pointing out that it was impossible to secure the needed supplies in the open market at any such price.
Hundreds and hundreds of instances of this kind and of other kinds were uncovered in the investigation which led to the issuance of the executive order putting sales and transfers under one head. The system installed by General Dawes and his assistants, divides the country according to the nine army corps areas. The man in charge of sales and transfers of supplies from one department or bureau of the government to another is known as a co-ordinator, one being provided for each of the corps areas. There is a chief co-ordinator also. This system will remain in effect unless a better one can be worked out and provided by legislative enactment.
The Army Not in Control
General Dawes is particularly anxious to prevent the impression gaining ground that because the system is laid down along the geographical lines of the army organizations, the army will have any kind of control over the work of the co-ordinator or the supply division generally. The corps areas were taken merely for the sake of the convenient division of the country, and no department will have a greater interest or influence in this work than any other.
One of the important duties of the co-ordinators is to fix prices at which supplies shall be transferred from one department to another. The old system of haggling and attempting to hold up another department is abolished. The co-ordinator has the final word in fixing a fair figure for the transfer of property, and there is no appeal from his decision.
General Dawes and his staff are particularly anxious not to appear to be criticizing the officials of any portion of the government. For that reason General Dawes believes it would be unwise and create bad feeling when what he most seeks is cooperation to set forth any of the instances which occurred by the hundreds which forced the change in system as a step toward economical running of the government machine. However, many of these have come to light.
One waste under the old system was the duplication of effort on the part of many of the departments. Representative Fees, of Ohio, once pointed out in the House that in many cases a dozen bureaus of the government were duplicating work, and that under the old system congress is called upon to appropriate money ten or twelve times over for the same work where it is thus performed in these dozen different places. The budget system will remedy this among other evils when the first budget is presented to Congress.
A Film Film-Flam
A recent instance is known of where one branch of the government desired to obtain a quantity of moving picture films. As the old system provided no means of this department knowing that another department, right here in Washington, had a surplus stock of films and that an exchange might be effected the department seeking the film went into the open market for it. A private individual discovering the excess supply in one department and the need for film in the other, bought the film in his own name and sold it back to the other branch of the government, making a comfortable profit for himself which was, of course, a dead loss to the government. Under the new system, a co-ordinator would have fixed a fair price for the film, and the transfer would have been made directly from one department to the other without any delays and haggling over the amount of funds to be transferred as a consideration for the film supply.
Probably the greatest loss in the matter of sale is chargeable to the War Department. It was almost inevitable that War Department should be overstocked with food stuffs at the end of hostilities and after the American Expeditionary Forces were returned to this country and demobilized. Everyone is familiar with the manner in which the War Department disposed of its excess supplies, and many families benefited through the purchase of its canned goods and other surplus stock at very low prices.
War Department supplies also included vast quantities of blankets, textiles of all sorts, automobiles, and almost everything else. Thousands and thousands of dollars worth of this material were sold to any purchaser for fractional parts of their real values. The old bugaboo arose of the department having the surplus stock demanding much higher prices from other departments which needed them than were demanded in open sales to the public.
While all of this was going on the Shipping Board, for one example, was buying food supplies for the crews of its ships in the open market. There is no doubt that much of the old War Department stock purchased by private individuals for a song was resold to the other branch of the government, the Shipping Board, at prices which were reasonable enough, but represented a handsome profit to the individuals who bought up quantities of War Department surplus stock for this very purpose.
This sort of thing is impossible now. Each department is to have a director of purchases and a director of sales, both of whom will keep in close touch with the chief co-ordinator. Copies of the surplus property reports of each department are to be furnished to the chief co-ordinator. General Dawes has emphasized that the new agency for the sale and exchange of government supplies is entirely independent of all other departments of the government, just as is his Budget Bureau.

Troop No. 6 led in the number of campers registered. The highest to date of any other troop was ten, but the St. Mary group arranged to tin ance several scouts who might otherwise be obliged to stay at home, and will let them earn the funds after they return. Chris Mullen, scoutmaster of the troop, and the Rev. Father Grill and John Roach will accompany their scouts to camp.

This will be the largest delegation of campers ever sent from Appleton to a boy scout camp.

There will be 60 boys from Appleton, 10 from Kaukauna and a group of adult leaders headed by Executive Buck. Most of the supplies were purchased in Appleton Friday.

Every boy who attended the meeting of troop No. 6 enrolled for camp, and those who did not register were visited. St. Mary congregation is to provide enough automobiles to convey this troop. Those who go to and from camp at the end of the first week also will be taken in cars. C. E. Mullen is furnishing his scouts the lumber and nails from which to make their sea chests.

Jack Confesses

Back to his star went Sprinkle-Blow again, followed by Nancy, Nick and the Magical Mushroom. He was determined to find out which one of the Nuisance Fairies had caused the halitosis down on the earth, thereby hitting Ben Bunny on the nose and nearly knocking him over.

Of course, the halitosis stopped as suddenly as it began, and when the cloud found that it wasn't needed any longer for the Weatherman to sit on it, it moved away. Mr. Sun showed his round, bright face then to Ben Bunny's disgust (for Ben wanted the shower to last, although he didn't like the halitosis), and Ben and Blossom went into their supper again. "It doesn't pay to be too hopeful," said Blossom. "I knew that something would happen so that we wouldn't have new lettuce for our dinner a week from Sunday."

Ben didn't reply, but went on eating bark croquettes as glib as Monday morning.

Mr. Sprinkle Blow set his bag inside the door of a house marked "Winds," first loosening the string so that Kind South Wind could let the tricky little breezes out if she'd a mind to. Then he closed the door and locked it and put the key on his key-ring.

"Now who in creation has been tampering with my rain-barrels!" exclaimed Ben. "Some one has taken some of the stuff from the 'Rain 'n' Hail' barrel and put it into my barrel marked 'Nice Warm Spring Rain.' Now who do you s'pose it was?"

Just then there was a mocking laugh near by, a laugh that they all knew it was Jack Frost. "I have to do something, don't I?" he mimicked. "If you won't let me be busy down on the earth, I have to get busy up here in the sky, don't I?" I put the hall into your Warm Spring Rain. What are you going to do about it?"

Pickles Have A Tang

With the vegetable season at its height the housekeeper who likes relishes and pickles for her winter dinners, will take advantage of the heavy Saturday markets.

If you're in a really economical mood, go with your basket, late Saturday after the rush is over and the merchants are reducing prices to avoid holding green goods over Sunday.

Beets and onions are excellent for pickles.

Pickled Beets
Medium sized new beets, 3 quarts vinegar, 3 cups sugar, 3 teaspoons salt.

Wash beets and boil until tender. Put in cold water and slip off skins. Cut in slices and put in jars. Heat vinegar, sugar and salt. When boiling pour over beets to cover and seal.

Pickled Onions
Small silver skinned onions, 1 1/2 cups salt, 2 quarts boiling water, 1 cup sugar, 1 gallon vinegar, 2 teaspoons chopped horseradish, mace, bayleaf, peppercorns, red pepper.

Peel onions. Put in a strong brine for three days. Drain and rinse in clear water. Make brine of salt and boiling water and when boiling put in the onions. Boil three minutes. Put in sterilized jars, sprinkling horseradish, mace, bayleaf, peppercorns and slices of red pepper along with the onions. Seal vinegar and sugar and pour over onions. Seal.

Pickled Walnuts
One hundred walnuts, 1 gallon vinegar, 1 cup sugar, 36 whole cloves, 36 whole allspice, 15 peppercorns, 12 blades mace, salt.

The walnuts should be soft enough to be easily pierced with a needle. Hold with a cloth and pierce well through with a darning needle. Make a brine, using 3 cups of salt to a gallon of water. Cover walnuts with the brine and let stand three days, changing the brine every day. Drain and cover with a fresh brine made by dissolving salt in boiling water. Cool before using. Let the walnuts stand in this brine three days. Drain and re-new brine and let stand three days more. Drain and put in cold water for half a day. Pack in a 2-gallon crock and pour over the vinegar which has boiled for 8 minutes with the sugar and spices. Let stand three days and drain. Reheat vinegar and pour over walnuts. Let stand three days and drain and reheat the vinegar. Pour the vinegar over the walnuts while it is scalding hot each time. Cover the crock and keep in a dark, cool place. The pickles will be ready to eat in a month.

HIDE-AND-SEEK IN A CELLAR

Jane's Book—Chapter 15

I knew perfectly well who held the end of that string.

Now that Katherine, my enemy, was almost caught, now that my husband's faithlessness was about to be disclosed, my body grew weak. But as my strength dwindled, my mind became alert.

The two whom we pursued must have heard us coming. If they had nothing to conceal, why had they retreated?

More than once I fancied that Spence was alert, that he realized that somebody was fleeing before us, farther and deeper into the underground labyrinth.

It was a game of hide-and-seek. My happiness was the trophy!

"There are others down here!" said Spence as we descended the steps of a sub-cellar.

Daddy Lorimer shook his head, but I spoke softly:

"There are two! The woman is Katherine Miller! The man is my husband! They are trying to keep out of sight!"

"Jane, you're crazy!" Daddy exclaimed.

"You'll see! You'll see!" I repeated in a monotone which might well have been the voice of a crazy woman.

"Follow the string—we must settle this now!" Daddy moved as fast as his lameness permitted. "How could Katherine know about this hole? She couldn't," he persisted. "Jane, girl, wake up! You're dreaming!"

"I—I—hope so!" I stammered. For the first time I thrilled with hope. Daddy's doubt made me think that I was mistaken.

When I considered probabilities calmly, I couldn't see how either Katherine or Bob could know about the cavern. We might be following thieves! There must be a guard for that priceless store of wines. If so, where was he hiding?

Suddenly my hope of not finding my husband was blasted. I perceived how Katherine Miller easily could have come by the mystery of the maze beneath Certes' flower beds. And why she could enter as easily as I!

In Mexico, months ago, that handsome Spaniard, Certes' friend, had fallen in love with Katherine. Before that, he had plotted and intrigued splendidly to reestablish the rule of certain Spanish aristocrats in Mexico. That was in war time. Germany was back of him. German victory had meant that he would make himself a little kaiser ruling in the treasure house of the world.

When the plot came to naught he had fled to the mountains, had Katherine for ransom—and had fallen in love with her!

It never occurred to me that Katherine might know of the trove of gems under the grand fountain.

mit a plan for financing erection of a plant, not with the understanding that a building is wanted free of charge. Mr. Birch expressed gratitude for the cordiality and special consideration accompanying his recent visit.

THE STAGE

"The Bat" Going Strong

Those who answer the call of Chicago to its Pageant of Progress are sure to find plenty of amusement attractions to divert their visit, as there is a real circus on the Lake Front and "The Bat" is still running at the Shubert Princess Theater, on South Clark street.

This product of the noted Mary Roberts Rinehart and Avery Hopwood has proved to be the strongest dramatic attraction of many seasons, as the company playing at the Morocco Theater, New York, will complete its full year on Broadway August 15, and the Chicago Company which opened at the Princess Theater December 26, will play its three-hundredth performance on August 13.

In spite of the heat, "The Bat" continues to play to big business and it is said that the mail orders that pour into the box office by every mail delivery surpass the amount at the opening engagement.

"The Bat" is full of thrills that keep one from noticing the heat and fun that tends to make one cool.

TIDEWATER CANAL MORE IMPORTANT THAN PANAMA CANAL

Magnus Swenson Tells Madison Rotarians of Value of Lake to Ocean Waterway.

Special to Post-Crescent.

Madison.—The proposed deep waterway, connecting the Great Lakes with the Atlantic ocean through the St. Lawrence river, will cost $250,000,000. Canada is ready to assume one-half the cost if the United States will pay the other half. The saving in freight to the middle west will pay our share in one year. A 1,500,000 horsepower electric plant will be included in the construction of the canal and locks and this in time will pay the entire cost. The proposed deep waterway will mean more to the United States than the Panama Canal, more than the Mediterranean sea means to Europe. It will make a seaport of every port on the great lakes. It will bring lumber and fruit from the Pacific coast to Chicago, Milwaukee and other lake ports at less than half the cost of freight at present by shipping through the Panama canal and then up through the St. Lawrence.

The above were statements made by Magnus Swenson, Madison financier, in an address before the Madison Rotary club. "There is not a single argument against the proposition," declared Mr. Swenson, who is president of one of the big trans-Atlantic steamship companies and one of the best posted men in America on the subject.

"The immediate construction of the deep waterway at this time would put an end to the present unemployment," he declared. "If the money was all made available now, the work could be completed in six years. It would give employment to thousands on the work itself and every city on a lake port would immediately begin the construction of docks, warehouses, etc., to take care of the traffic which would come to it. Toronto is today spending millions in building docks, warehouses, terminals, etc., in anticipation of the completion of the deep waterway, for if the United States does not join her Canada will build it herself and we will have to help pay for it for all time to come in freight bills."

Mr. Swenson declared that New York City alone is fighting the project, merely through selfish reasons, but that if the truth were known New York would be benefited far greater with the completion of the deep waterway than the business she would lose. He described the docks in New York and Brooklyn as wholly inadequate. He declared it very frequently costs more to transfer freight from a railroad terminal in New York to an ocean freighter than the steamship company charges to carry it to Europe.

GREEN BAY PLANS GREAT AUDITORIUM

Site Is Acquired for Structure to Cost Nearly a Million Dollars.

Green Bay.—Announcement was made by the promoters on Friday that a site consisting of one solid block had been purchased for Jean Nicolet auditorium, to be the largest building of its kind in the state with the exception of the Milwaukee auditorium. Building operations are to be started about Oct. 1, it was said. After weeks of negotiations papers have just been signed for the property on Washington-st. between Crooks and Stuart. The investment company, which is sponsoring the erection of the auditorium for Green Bay business men, paid $75,000 for the site, it was announced.

Green Bay's auditorium is to be erected on an unusual plan, believed to be different from any in the state. The building is put up as a private enterprise, but backed by individual business men who have entered into long term leases. It will be so built as to provide all the features of a modern auditorium and can be used for concerts, banquets, athletic meets and other large gatherings. The project was worked out largely by F. W. Luening, former Milwaukee newspaper man, and up to recently managing director of the Green Bay Association of Commerce. He is now vice president of the investment corporation.

The lower floors of the building will be devoted to the auditorium proper and two and possibly three stories will be used for offices. The foundations will be built to take care of additional stories that may be added later. When completed the building will have cost more than $1,000,000, it is said.

The seating capacity of the auditorium proper will be 6,000. It will contain one of the largest stages in Wisconsin. Its concrete floor, adapted to heavy displays at industrial and agricultural shows, will be covered with sectional maple flooring for dances and similar functions. The main arena will be divisible and the seating arrangements will be flexible enough to permit viewing grand opera on the stage or a boxing bout in the middle of the floor.

Many of the ideas incorporated in the Green Bay auditorium were obtained by a study of Milwaukee's auditorium. The financial success of the proposition is assured by leases signed before the property was purchased. Many wholesale houses and large corporations with distributing offices in Green Bay have taken space.

WISCONSIN LAKES PUBLIC PROPERTY

Madison, Wis.—Private owners have no lawful right to obstruct the lakes of Wisconsin from use by the public through construction of fences across pathways or by any other means that would keep the waters out of public use. Attorney General William J. Morgan announced on Friday in an opinion to the conservation commission.

The stand of the attorney general will open all the lakes of the state to any persons who care to make use of them, without permitting private owners of abutting land from excluding them. It points out that the shores of Lake Michigan and Superior are included within this interpretation.

"The rights of the public in navigable waters of the state and on the shores of lakes, the beds of which are owned by the state, below the high water mark, are paramount to the private rights of owners of abutting lands," the opinion states.

"It is important that these rights be maintained. The principle of state ownership of our lakes and the beds to the high water mark, would be meaningless and impotent if the use and enjoyment of the public water could be monopolized by owners, simply by permitting them to exclude the public from access thereto."

WANTS CHILDREN'S DEPARTMENT ADDED TO FREE LIBRARY

Chief Librarian Asks for More Books and More Help in Juvenile Room.

Miss Florence Day, head librarian of Appleton Free Public Library made a plea for a trained children's librarian in her annual report before the board of trustees of the library this week.

"The department which needs most development is the children's," said Miss Day. "It has soiled books, inadequate space, little shelving and equipment. The children are overlooked. It is absolutely impossible for the head librarian in addition to the enormous amount of work under her supervision, to build up and properly direct this department. A trained children's librarian, who has all her time to devote to this work, must be secured if it is to be handled satisfactorily."

"The reference department needs books. The library staff does work for the grades, high school, Lawrence college and a number of study clubs in addition to much general work. It needs books with which to do this. Extension work will soon become a necessary feature of the library system. Branches in portions of the city at a distance from the main library, stations in offices, factories and other places. School deposits and various other types of extension work hold a very important place in library work of all the larger towns and cities and should be started in Appleton."

"The time is approaching and it is not in the very distant future when the problem of a separate library building will become one of vital importance. The present quarters soon will become inadequate. A new building alone will solve the problem if Appleton reaches the grade of efficiency in its library that other Wisconsin cities of corresponding size and importance maintain."

"At the beginning of this year, this library had on its shelves 14,447 books of which 12,817 were adult books and 1,530 juvenile."

"There were added during the year 1,559 books of which 1,052 were adult and 497 juvenile. Seven hundred fourteen books were withdrawn from the library leaving 15,182 books on the shelves of which 13,266 are adult books and 1,916 juvenile. Of the 1,459 books added 1,442 were added after the first of October thus averaging 150 books a month during the remainder of the year."

"At the beginning of the year, 5,360 persons were using library cards. A total of 1,671 new cards were issued during the year and 578 were withdrawn. At the end of the year 6,359 persons were using library cards."

"During the year, 19,773 books of nonfiction were circulated, 50,205 books of fiction, 2,716 unbound periodicals, 812 books in a foreign language, almost entirely German, making a total of 73,005 books lent for home reading. Five hundred ninety-five pictures and four hundred twenty-five clippings were circulated."

"The number of current magazines received by subscription or gift was 73 and the number of newspapers 10."

"Total receipts for the year amounted to $16,383.94, as follows: Balance from last year $4,818.57, city appropriation $11,000, interest, $141.53 fines, $306.77; rents $61.13."

"The disbursements amounted to $10,280.31, as follows: Books, $2,390.78; periodicals, $301.34; binding, $633.11; salaries, $5,038.24; light, $242.61; improvements, $688.55; supplies, $284.35; printing, $67.69; postage, $68.53; insurance, $31.63; other expenses $532.33. The balance on hand is $6,103.63."

A new system of current magazine circulation has been instituted. With this system, two copies of all current magazines which are sent to the library are subscribed for. One of these copies is held in the file. The other copy is allowed to circulate for home reading. One copy of all magazines not sent to the library is subscribed for and is kept in the library during the current month for the use of library patrons, but is allowed to circulate for home use the following month. This system eliminates the loss of magazines which are needed for the bound periodical file."

A gift of approximately 1,800 books was made to the library by the board of directors of the Third district school. Some of these books were too worn to warrant their being included in the library's collection and have been discarded. The majority were of excellent value. They are at present stored in the basement until such time as there is sufficient help to have them catalogued and placed on the shelves."

DAN McDONALD'S HORSE SETS CANADIAN RECORD

A new Canadian record was established in the final day of the Winnipeg Driving club's midsummer race meeting at Winnipeg when Phil Patch, owned by D. J. McDonald of Appleton, a former Appleton boy and one of the owners of the McDonald Yards of this city, won the free-for-all, the feature event of the entire meeting in the three fastest heats ever stepped on a half-mile track in Canada. Pitted against two of the best performers in Western Canada, Main Direct and Pat Pointer, the former Appleton man's horse won the first heat by a neck in 2:06 1/4, the second in 2:07 1/4, and the third in 2:08, being only extended in the first heat. The race was witnessed by nearly 5,000 persons.

Must Have Good Reason To Rent Post Office Lock Box

Postal Authorities Frown on Schemes to Carry on Clandestine Correspondence.

Sincerity and honesty of purposes are essential to the privilege of renting a lock box in the Appleton post office.

To prevent unscrupulous people from obtaining a lock box for "illegal or fraudulent purposes" is something of a task but the adoption by the postoffice department many years ago of a definite set of rules governing lock boxes has simplified the matter somewhat. It is now difficult for any body to "put anything over" on the postoffice when it comes to illicit use of lock boxes.

When a patron asks for the use of a lock box he is handed an application blank in this he gives his name and address and thereupon why he needs a lock box. If he represents a firm he gives the name of the firm and the names of other persons connected with the firm who are likely to use the box.

Nice for Salesmen
The majority of the 230 boxes in the local postoffice are rented by business houses, according to the postmaster, and of the few individuals who rent boxes the majority are traveling salesmen. Bona fide salesmen are given a little leeway in the matter of renting boxes for the reason that they are absent from the city the greater part of the time. Very often they arrive in the city late in the evening and leave again early in the morning so that the regular city delivery is not available to them. With a lock box they can receive their mail at any time. In their case a lock box is an absolute necessity.

There is always more demand for lock boxes than can be supplied, the postmaster said. This necessitates a "waiting list." Applications are filed in order of receipt until such time as they may be filled. This circumstance, officials have noticed, discourages applicants who really can get along without lock boxes.

Rap at Mail Service
Now and then in applying for a lock box the person gives "dissatisfactory" with the city delivery" as the reason for wanting a box. When such a reason is given the officials begin to ask questions. "What's the matter with the city delivery?" they inquire. If the person can find no fault as is often the case when he is planned to the point, his application is out of the running. Sometimes at this juncture the person volunteers to withdraw the application.

The idea is officials point out that the city delivery is expected to be efficient and to please patrons to a reasonable degree and if anyone in the system is at fault an improvement must be made. The department undertakes to deliver mail to patrons and no lock boxes can be obtained on the flimsy excuse that the department is falling down on the job.

Where patrons live in new additions to the city in which there is as yet no city delivery a lock box is often the only solution for the time being so applications from these people are granted.

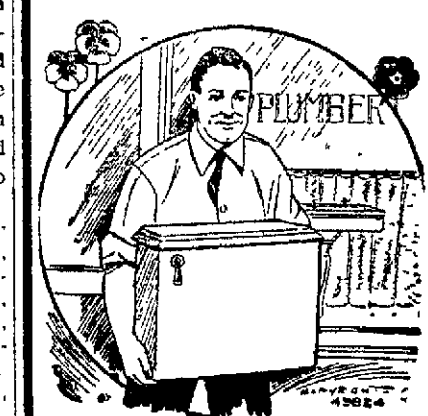

Keys to the boxes are a source of some trouble. Users of boxes often forget to withdraw the key and close the box door after getting their mail. However officials have noticed that for every careless person who leaves his box open, there is usually a thoughtful person who puts the key inside the box and closes the door. On one occasion a woman charged that mail was being stolen from her box and even then the fact was never clearly established.

PENSION FUND IS BOOSTED BY $3,865

Appleton teachers paid the state teachers' retirement fund the sum of $1755.96 for the last year and teachers for the entire county paid a grand total of $3,865.48 to the fund. These figures are shown in reports which the county school superintendent and the county treasurer are preparing to send to Madison.

County districts paid as follows: Black Creek, $65.30; Bovina, $46.45; Buchanan, $47.15; Center, $69.25; Cicero, $82.30; Dale, $75.40; Deer Creek, $45.50; Ellington, $88.55; Freedom, $96.48; Grand Chute, $89.10; Greenville, $87.36; Hortonville, $82.54; Kaukauna, $75.24; Liberty, $33.90; Maine, $45.35; Maple Creek, $22.44; Oneida, $77.38; Osborn, $27.89; Seymour, $107.13; Vandenberg, $29.70. ## No Muzzle For Fido As Long As He Is Good Dog

It will soon be "dog days" but Appleton dogs don't have to worry.

Fido and 499 other members of the canine family in this city will not have to wear muzzles as long as they behave themselves. This is the edict of city officials and of the police department.

A city ordinance provides that dogs may be allowed to run at large without muzzles as long as they make no attempt to molest anyone but upon complaint by any person regarding a certain dog, the police department must notify the owner to muzzle the dog. Very few complaints are ever received by the police as the ownership of any dog with a tendency to exercise his molars is discouraged here.

A law of the state which is practically obsolete because of unenforcement requires that all dogs must be muzzled or chained during the period known as dog days. Experience showed that many dogs were more dangerous if compelled to wear muzzles than they were without them. Some dogs cannot bear to be muzzled and will become desperate in their attempts to rid themselves of the device.

As long as Fido is a good dog and maintains a healthy respect for his master's neighbors he may retain the "freedom of the city."

BUYS COTTAGE SITES ON NORTHERN LAKE

Louis Bonini has closed a deal with Perola Land Co. for 1,000 feet frontage on Stone Lake which he intends to sell exclusively to Appleton people who wish to build a summer home on one of the most attractive lakes in northern Wisconsin.

The land is covered with virgin forest and is platted into lots which can be purchased at any time. The lake is spring fed, has a gravel bottom and is filled with black bass. Land locked salmon have also been caught weighing up to 20 pounds.

The timber on the land is pine, hemlock and maple. The tract is located on the west shore, which is comparatively free from cottages and resorts. According to Mr. Bonini it is the most ideal spot on the lake.

DORD

Quality Goes Clear Through

The recent Dord price reduction put this car foremost among automobile values.

There is more beauty and competency in the Dord than in most cars listed from at $1,200 to $1,400. In the ownership of a Dord there is more economy and satisfaction with less depreciation to consider than in any car the market offers today. Dord in fact completely answers the demand for a stylish and satisfactory car at a popular purchase price.

It will be our pleasure to PROVE to you these pleasant facts—any time.

KIMBERLY TEAM IS CONFIDENT OF DOWNING BRANDTS

Shinners and Schultz to Work on Hill—Oshkosh Plays at Menasha.

SUNDAY'S SCHEDULE
Kimberly at Appleton
Oshkosh at Menasha
New London at Kaukauna

Kimberly baseball fans thoroughly convinced that the Brandt team is slipping in the Valley league race, are backing up their team to take another fall out of the Appleton squad at Brandt park Sunday afternoon. The men have been working out in preparation for what they believe will be the most interesting game of the season.

Shinners reports his arm to be in the best of condition for the battle. The long hurler has a world of stuff when he is going good and his confidence was restored by his win over Kaukauna last Sunday.

Local fans still are panning the Brandts and Schultz in particular for last Sunday's showing. They are not taking kindly to his practice of playing Saturday baseball and ruining his arm for effective work on Sunday. They feel he is as good a pitcher as there is in the league if he will lay off the Saturday ball.

A defeat tomorrow afternoon will be disastrous to the Brandts in more ways than one. It will practically put the team out of the running for flag honors and will set the fans against the boys. They were pretty much disappointed by last Sunday's blow up and another game like it will destroy their confidence.

Kaukauna is priming herself for the setto with New London Sunday afternoon. There will be no changes in the lineup but the boys have been putting in some hard practice licks.

The most interesting tussle of the day is scheduled for Menasha where Oshkosh will furnish the opposition. Menasha now has the best team of the season. Heath is pitching good ball and his support is excellent. It should be the feature game of the week.

Each will call balls and strikes at the game here. Buelow will work at Kaukauna and Stoenbauer is scheduled to wear the mask at Menasha.

Sport Views And News

Just at the present time the remarkable showing of the Washington Senators is the outstanding feature of major league baseball during the past two weeks. This club appears to have found itself after being in a disastrous mid-season slump and the way they have been tearing along for the past ten days is causing Huggins of the Tanks and Apoker of Cleveland a few uneasy nights. The Senators recently handed the Indians a double dose of defeat in a doubleheader and they are now cutting loose with a brand of baseball that makes them loom up as a pennant possibility despite the fact they are a poor third at the present time.

Something is wrong with the boxing game in Michigan and Governor Greebeck has practically put a halt on all boxing encounters until he has made a housecleaning in the fight commission. The Wolverine executive is not satisfied with the way the bouts have been staged or in the exhibitions put up by the pugilists and he intends making a thorough investigation before any more permits are granted for ring arguments.

Evidently, Tommy Gibbons won't get his crack at Carpenter as soon as was expected. Descamps has cabled from France that Georges' hand, which was injured in the title go with Dempsey has not healed well enough to allow his appearance in the ring against Gibbons in October. As does now stands, the bout has been postponed indefinitely and we now have to admit that it looks as if the Frenchman has a bad attack of cold feet.

The "washed" White Sox players, who were found not guilty by a Chicago jury, are finding that their path back to organized baseball is not quite as smooth sailing as they expected. Even the minor leagues won't have anything to do with the principals in the 1919 world series scandal and it would appear as if the door has been closed tight against them. One thing is sure, the national game will benefit by this attitude because players under suspicion would not make very valuable members of any ball club.

GIANTS' OWNER ISN'T WORRYING ABOUT WOLF

New York—Charles Stonham, part owner of the New York Giants does not care particularly for a pennant for the Giants this season. At least he is not worrying about it from a financial standpoint because this promises to be the greatest year the Giants ever had. With the Giant company receiving a nice stipend from the Tankers for the use of the Polo grounds, and attendance keeping up to high level during the weekday games in the metropolis, Stonham predicts all attendance records in the history of the club will be broken when the 1921 season ends. He says he realizes a world's series would help swell the earning power of the club but, he adds, the club can get along nicely without a series, despite the fact they are trying to win to the best of their ability.

COAST WIZARD HEALS ARMS

Denny Carroll

George Tecumseh Stallings did not last long as the Miracle Man of baseball. Neither did Pat Moran. Fans regarded them as ordinary managers when their teams hit the rocks.

"Bonesetter" Reese of Youngstown, O., is the real Miracle Man of baseball. He'll keep his title as long as he lives.

Reese has an honest-to-goodness rival in Denny Carroll, who trans, San Francisco's Seals.

"He may not be better" but he's just as good."

Carroll has performed miracles on arms supposed to be ready for the graveyard.

Frank O'Doul, classy southpaw, joined San Francisco this season with a lame arm. New York critics predicted he was through.

Carroll took charge of him in spring training. Now O'Doul looks like the best pitcher in the league.

Harry Krause

Harry Krause, veteran southpaw who won 10 straight games for Connie Mack in 1910, couldn't put on his collar when the 1920 season closed.

Carroll worked on him last winter. Krause is having one of the best seasons of his career.

Scout Bob Connery saw Ernie Shore pitch for Fresno a few days ago. He couldn't believe his eyes. Shore had something on over a ball he threw after having been a Yankee leion. They gave $25,000 for him. Shore gave Carroll credit for bringing him back.

His Method
Carroll has a method all his own. He mixes osteopathy with chiropractic and polishes them off with common sense treatments. All he asks a obedience. He has the players confidence before they visit him.

Strangely, Carroll never played himself. He cannot throw a ball so fast. As a young man he was a champion swimmer and a clever boxer.

He's been training San Francisco's Seals for 12 years.

GIANTS SUSPEND SMITH FOR SULKY ATTITUDE

St. Louis, Mo.—Catcher Earl Smith of the New York Giants has been indefinitely suspended by Manager John J. McGraw for "purposeful" poor playing. It was announced on Thursday afternoon. Smith has packed his bag and disappeared.

Smith sulkily struck out on his first two trips to the plate in Wednesday's game. Brown baited for him the third time and Smith was yanked from the game. In the clubhouse following the game, McGraw upbraided Smith for "sufficing chances" and placed him on the suspended list after a heated argument.

Pitcher Rube Ebertson reported back to the Giants today.

BIG BAM SLIPPING IN HOME RUN RACE

Decrease in Hitting Charged to Replacement of Alleged "Lively Ball."

By United Press Leased Wire
New York.—Rabe, the big bam is now at the foot of a steep grade on the way to a new home run record.

For the first time this year Ruth is actually behind his 1320 run of clouts.

On August 5 last year the bam had connected with the ball in his noted bawming manner for 39 homers. His count today is 38.

Daves, the Tiger hurler is the champion furnisher of homers for the bam, as he has served up ten that have been devoured by him.

Many of the players charge that the ball has been changed again. They maintain that it is leane some of the hope and life that resulted in an array of homers earlier in the season and placed the hands and taces of the in-felders in jeopardy.

The players still complain enough that the lively and less lively balls are being mixed now. They say one ball will come at them in regular fashion and the next one will knock them off their pins.

Guessed Wrong First Time

Georges Carpenter has just seen the pictures of how the flower of France was broken.

"I fought him wrong from the star," he says.

Right. Everyone who has fought the American Tiger fought him wrong. Dempsey's opponents are all second guessers.

Good-Better-Best
America's Davis Cup team will be selected soon.

There are some wonderful players lambasting the tennis ball under Uncle Sam's colors now.

William T. Tilden Vincent Richards William Johnston R. Norris Williams Watson Washburn and so on down the line of stars.

The cup looks like American property for another year.

Boiling 10
Another Dempsey Willard match is boiling.

At first it is like a small voice in the wilderness. But its echoes carry far and are intensified in transit.

Those who saw Willard smashed at Toledo say "Never again."

Those who didn't remember reports on the second round when Willard got up from the floor and wagon tugged the Irish Tiger.

So it boils. It'll come off this winter. draw a lot of money and be a far better fight than the last.

SECOND WARD SLIDES DOWN PERCENTAGE COLUMN

Fourth ward went into a tie with Second ward for third place in the American Legion Twilight league while Fifth ward entrenched itself solidly in first place as a result of Friday night's games. Second ward lost to Fifth ward, 12 to 11. First and Fourth wards were given victories through failure of Sixth and Third ward teams to report for play.

Here are the standings:

Team	W	L	Pct
5th Ward	11	4	.733
1st Ward	9	4	.691
4th Ward	9	5	.643
2nd Ward	7	10	.412
3rd Ward	9	15	.375

MAJORS BID FOR COAST "RUTH"

Babe Ruth

They are saving some nice things about him. O'Connell, 13-year old first baseman of the San Francisco Seals.

The kid is an embryonic Babe Ruth and he looks like another Bill Lange. This is O'Connell's second season in professional company. Charley Graham discovered him at Santa Clara college in the spring of 1919, but didn't sign him until the closing week of that season.

Fred Mitchell saw O'Connell at the plate in an exhibition series between the Cubs and Seals in 1919. After the first game he offered Graham $10,000 for him. O'Connell had never played a league game.

O'Connell was an outfielder in 1920. Graham converted him into a first sacker this season. He has the pep both in the field and at bat.

O'Connell has hit 350 or better since the season opened. He's improving with every game.

Scout Bob Connery of New York's Yankees just completed a tour of the big western circuit. He saw every club and player. Before leaving San Francisco he remarked:

"I'll take O'Connell and let the other fellows buy the rest of the major league prospects in your league."

O'Connell is a big powerful boy. He weighs about 190 pounds, runs exceptionally fast for a big fellow. He takes a natural, follow through swing with his bat.

WILSON AND DOWNEY TO MEET IN GOTHAM

New York—Johnny Wilson and Brv-an Downey are to meet again. The battle will take place at Jersey City, Labor day, Sept. 5. Tex Rickard received word from Boston Friday that Jonathan was willing and anxious for a return bout with this Downey man, to prove to the world at large that Brvan did not play fair in that quarrel at Cleveland the other night.

Wilson is positive that Mr. Downey cheated while swinging his blows during that little party and will be glad to submit further evidence of his belief by taking on the Ohio scrapper for another little jam.

The return engagement between the two battlers will have to be confined to 12 rounds under the New Jersey law, but Downey is sure that less than half that number of innings will find Wilson on the floor.

BODY WORKS TEAM WINS FROM TELEPHONE SQUAD

Appleton Body Works baseball team defeated the Wisconsin Telephone Co. team at Brandt park Thursday evening by a score of 3 to 2. The battery for the winning team was Trebe and Strutz. The game was the second played between the two teams the first also having been won by the Acmes by a score of 8 to 5.

RAZZ AND CELLAR IS TOO MUCH

Joe Dugan

Joe Dugan does not share Connie Mack's philosophy of life or baseball. The kid third basemen quit the Athletics partly because the fans razzed him for making a few human errors and partly because he dislikes cellar baseball.

He couldn't stand such cutting remarks as "Pop Fly Joe" and "You ought to play with the Phillies."

"I'll never play in this town again," Dugan told Connie in the dressing room after he walked off the field.

And wise old Connie, who has been through more baseball bitterness than almost any other man, came back at the boy like this:

"You stay right there on third, Joe—and if you make a hundred errors, which you won't, you'll still be playing the thinking errors now and then is all a part of the game."

"It's a tough assignment, being picked to pieces by several thousand fans. But it is one which every base ball star encounters sometime during his career."

The youngster is far above the average as a player. He has been hitting .283 and has made many dazzling stops and pegs.

GREEN BAY TEAM IS CHALLENGED BY GIRLS

Green Bay—Talk about adding insult to injury.

Green Bay's baseball team in the Lake Shore league, which hasn't won a game in this half of the league season, is being challenged by a team of girls.

To be sure it's a publicity stunt, but the girls, members of a cinema revue outfit showing in Green Bay next week actually claim they can put it all over Green Bay's cellar champs.

The game has been booked for Tuesday and some of the weary fans have been unkind enough to say that Manager Lynch has fallen for petticoats in the hopes of winning at least one game.

Watching The Scoreboard

Yesterday's hero, Frankie Frisch tripled in the third inning and drove 2 to 1 victory over the Cardinals.

Clarence Mitchell, besides pitching in the two runs that gave the Giants a great ball, got three hits and drove in two runs, the Robins beating the Reds 6 to 1.

Sheeley's homer was the only tally made off Joe Bush and the Red Sox beat the White Sox 10 to 1.

Flack's drive over the right field wall was the only run McQuillan allowed the Cubs and the Braves won 6 to 1.

Wally Schang's homer with two on helped the Tanks beat the Tigers 7 to 3 and increased their lead over the Indians to one full game.

The Senators made it eleven straight by knocking Bagby out of the box in the first inning and beating the Indians the third in a row by a score of 4 to 1.

Williams' homer in the third gave the Phils a two run lead but the Pirates came from behind and won 8 to 5.

VALVE-IN-HEAD Buick MOTOR CARS

Announcing The New Buick "Four"

—A Thoroughbred Four, Completing the Famed Buick Line—

The new Four-Cylinder Buick, here announced, is a thoroughbred—a pedigreed car well worthy of its name.

Down to the very last detail, this new model possesses every quality of enduring serviceability, complete comfort, and distinctive appearance that have always characterized Buick automobiles.

The advent of this new Four makes the Buick 1922 line complete. It offers to purchasers of a car of this size all the quality and service that go to make up the name "Buick."

The engine, of course, is of the time-tested Buick Valve-in-Head type. The year-after-year concentration of Buick's engineering skill and experience in building Valve-in-Head motors assures the highest standard of performance obtainable today.

Every other unit is of a quality equal to the power plant. The whole assembly constitutes a perfectly balanced chassis which is of typical Buick construction. The equipment of Cord Tires is merely evidence of the quality which characterizes the entire car.

Two open and two closed body types mounted on the Buick built chassis comprise the new series.

Even the most casual inspection of the details of design and workmanship will reveal that full measure of quality which motorists have learned to associate with Buick.

Obviously a high grade automobile—a genuine Buick production—the prices listed below make this great Four even greater. A value such as this is possible only because of the combination of Buick engineering skill devoted to the one ideal of quality, Buick production facilities developed over nearly a quarter of a century, and Buick's nation-wide distribution and service organization.

The Buick Motor Company is proud of the Buick Four. It has the faith of long experience in this newest addition to its line. It places upon it unreservedly the Buick guarantee carried by every Buick automobile produced. That its confidence is well placed is manifested not only by the keen interest with which motorists have awaited this announcement, but also the advance orders placed by distributors, dealers, and the general public.

CONTESTED WILL IS ADMITTED IN COURT

After having his decision in the Henry Vanderhey will contest case under advisement for several days, Judge John Bottersack has announced that he will be admitted to probate. The judge's decision ends the controversy in which 13 nieces and nephews of the decedent sought to set aside the will which gives property valued at $45,000 to two sisters of the late Little Chute resident.

The will leaves the property to Mrs. Henry Janssen and Mrs. William Verbeeten of Little Chute. Contest action was taken on the grounds that the testator was hard of hearing, unable to read or write the English language and was unduly influenced.

MENASHA-NEENAH NEWS

MOONSHINE STILL FOUND IN BOXCAR

Section Foreman Was Well Equipped to Make Illicit Liquor.

Neenah—Between 3 and 4 o'clock Friday morning, Chief of Police C. H. Watts and Acting Officer Peter Carlson of Neenah made a raid on the box car home of Swan Niegren, Soo line section foreman, on the Soo line tracks in Neenah east of Lake-st. A copper still and several gallons of whisky were found in the car, where Niegren lives and he was arrested at once. He was taken to Oshkosh Friday afternoon where he was arraigned in Municipal court.

The Menasha fire department was called out shortly after 1 o'clock Friday afternoon to the rear of the Hopfensperger Bros. meat market on Main-st. A lady residing on Broad-st. noticed a small blaze from the smoke house and sent in the alarm. The fire was of no consequence.

Two games of baseball were to be played in the Menasha Industrial league at the city ball park on Saturday afternoon. The Whittings were to meet the Prints at 2 o'clock and the Woodenware will play the Peerless team at 4 o'clock. The Banta team will be idle on Saturday.

The Ashland end of the Oshkosh-Neenah road known as the Jackson-st. road will be opened to traffic next Sunday morning according to an announcement by County Highway Commissioner Binning. This will give about eight miles of concrete to Gillingham's corners. The covering of dirt is being removed and Sunday the barricades will be taken away and that end of the road thrown open to traffic.

Menasha fans who perk their cars inside the baseball grounds next Saturday and in the future are to pay for that privilege. A number of auto owners made the proposal that those who view the game while seated in their cars from the first and third base lines pay the same admission as for grandstand seats. The tickets will also be good for the grandstand but it is expected that a large number of fans will remain in cars as this will do much to solve the problem of the grandstand shortage.

SALESMAN HURT WHEN STREET CAR HITS AUTOMOBILE

Milwaukee Man's Car Is Wrecked in Crash at Sanatorium Crossing Friday.

Vincent Halaska, Milwaukee, a traveling salesman is in St. Elizabeth hospital with a fractured shoulder and minor bruises suffered early Friday afternoon when his Ford coupe was struck by a northbound interurban of the Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat and Power company at Riverview sanatorium crossing, near Little Chute. The injured man was resting comfortably Saturday and it is believed recovery will be complete.

Mr. Halaska was driving north and Motorman Charles Refke said he appeared to be leaning over and looking down as his machine approached the interurban tracks. Mr. Refke blew his whistle and tried to stop but the automobile was directly in the path of the car.

The Ford was carried some distance. Halaska was lying about 30 feet from where the automobile finished its course along the rail. The man was stunned for about five minutes and then regained consciousness. Medical aid was rendered by sanatorium employee after which Mr. Halaska was taken to the hospital.

Glass in the interurban vestibule was shattered, causing Mr. Refke to suffer a slight cut over one eye. The automobile was almost a complete wreck.

ONLY TWO ROADS IN COUNTY ARE CLOSED

All Outagamie-co. roads are open with the exception of the road from Appleton to Seymour where the work in Freedom township, assisted by favorable weather, is progressing satisfactorily.

Possibilities that this piece of work would be tied up in a legal controversy, as the result of a declaration by Patrick Roche that no highway had been surveyed, now appear to have faded. A. G. Brusewitz, county highway commissioner, has ordered the fence moved and work to proceed as usual.

The enlargement of the cafeteria of the Y. M. C. A. was completed Saturday. Carpenters, plumbers and painters finished up their work and when the new tables arrive and are installed, the cafeteria will take care of twice as many patrons as formerly. A wash room and shower bath has been installed for the cafeteria employees in connection with the equipment which has been installed.

The Appleton Wood Products Co. installed several shower baths for their men during the extreme heat several weeks ago.
